Blooms in the Bottoms Celebrates Moms in KC's West Bottoms

First Friday's Festival of the Full Moon Weekend May 7-9

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI, April 30, 2021 – Flowers abloom in the West Bottoms to stage the celebration of moms First Friday Weekend May 7-9. Amidst the displays of flowers aligned with the Flower Moon for selfies and cheer, shops have curated a vast array of eclectic items from furnishings and decor to chic outfits, jewelry, vintage, and antiques throughout the 13-block historic district.

Kansas City's West Bottoms has a reputation for making memorable, endearing moments. This celebration includes some Blooming Tick Tock Teas to groups toasting moms. The district will award six tea times to groups of six to enjoy savory and sweet bites with blooming teas, plus guests will receive goodie bags from Sincerely Ellis, and the host will also receive a gift from a featured store.

Festivities outside include the reserved tables and classical pianist Nathan Staley from the band Odyssey Thirty-Nine performing. In addition, patrons of the outside pop-up bar can enjoy featured mocktails and cocktails such as the Tea Tok Tea, Blooming Rose, and bubbles. "We are excited to present joyful extras in the historic West Bottoms streets that adds to the shopping experience as people walk the district checking out the many stores.
