Birds in the Bottoms Ready for Thanksgiving

First Friday Weekend Transitions from Halloween November 2-4

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI, November 1, 2018 - Out with Halloween and in with Thanksgiving - gives way to smashing pumpkins and flying turkeys. The West Bottoms hosts its monthly First Friday weekend, November 2-4 while its acclaimed attractions Beast and Edge of Hell Haunted House opens for its last weekend of the season. The Beast's upper-story window, typically dedicated to let haunt goers jump out, will open for the turkey flight and the pumpkin toss at 3:30pm following the Man-tiquing Show hosted by the 'West Bottoms Queen' at 3pm.

The Man-tiquing show will feature hot vintage items and heirlooms of the past - with intense urban architectural structure that appeals to men. Those in attendance will get a chance to enter-to-win prizes, including Hen House turkeys and passes to the new Full Moon Escape rooms, choice of the Beast's Tool Room or the Ghost of Merlin room.

The area is also announcing their November First Friday will feature the first display of their new Christmas shopping choices. Christmastime will be further celebrated beyond First Friday starting Friday Nov. 30 and each weekend thereafter leading up to Christmas.

A Christmas lighting ceremony on Saturday, December 1 at 6pm with the West Bottoms Queen on-hand, the Grinch, special holiday music presentation of Ave Maria, and a dancing performance will entertain holiday shoppers. Stores will be open until 8pm on December 1.

"We love making happy memories for people with each holiday," said Amber Arnett-Bequeaith, aka West Bottoms Queen and spokesperson for the district. "This is the one time of year with a holiday trifecta as we close out the Halloween season, welcome Thanksgiving, and celebrate Christmas shopping. You don't get better than that!"

December's "Cold Moon" is ushered into the District's Festival of the Full Moon. Visitors need not worry about the outside temperatures with the district offering spiced and spiked cocoa on a crawl through first three weekends in December throughout the historic district. Each weekend leading up to Christmas many stores plan to be open beyond First Friday Weekend.
